Grow in Love

Live In Peace

10th November 2017

Once again we complete another busy week. The children are settling back into the routine of school life after the half term break. These routines are important, to ensure a calm purposeful learning environment, so can you remind the children that their good manners and respect of others is essential over this half term.

St. Chad's behaviour expectations are very clear Children should:

- Be ready to learn
- Follow all instructions first time
 - Treat others with respect
- Do not touch anyone else, hands by your sides
- Move around the building in a calm, orderly manner
- Always complete your work to the best you can
 - Quiet talking during lunch

Parents Evening

It was lovely to see so many of you were able to attend our parents meetings. This is an important part of the school year where you are able to discuss your child's progress, attainment and behaviour with their teacher as well as an opportunity for you to have a look at their work.

If you were not able to make this meeting, please speak with your child's teacher.

Road Safety

Road safety week starts on the 20th November. Reception – Year 5 will be taking part in a road safety show next Wednesday 15th November. The children will participate in sessions on how to cross the road properly as well as how to keep safe especially when the nights are dark.

Please also speak with your children about keeping safe on the road.
